LINCOLN, RHODE ISLAND, JULY 28, 2017: Blasting at the site of the Tiverton Casino is set to conclude by next Friday, August 4th, as anticipated.

According to Andy Dufore, North Division Manager of Maine Drilling & Blasting, the project team has adhered to the schedule it communicated to the community, noting the possibility of small blasts for underground utility work at some point in the future.

“We began the blasting phase of construction in July with the promise that we would conclude by August 4th and we are on track to meet that commitment,” said Mr. Dufore. “In fact, we are substantially complete already. For the final push, we will continue with the notification system we have in place for surrounding owners within a 1,000-foot radius. Last, any future minor blast work for utilities will follow the same protocol.”

“We want to thank our nearby property owners for putting up with what is undoubtedly one of the noisier phases of construction,” said Mike Barlow, Vice President of Property Operations, Twin River Management Group. “We understand noise intrusions are never welcome, and for that reason, did our best to condense this noisy portion of construction in as tight a timeframe as we possibly could.”

Tiverton Casino, a Twin River property, is currently under construction and is scheduled to open in 2018. Once complete, Tiverton Casino, will feature 32 table games, 1,000 slots, a full-service restaurant as well as several express food options, a live entertainment bar, simulcasting and valet parking. The attached 84-room hotel will feature meeting space and a fitness center. The casino and hotel are situated on 51 wooded acres in the town of Tiverton, Rhode Island, just off of Route 24 and conveniently located close to Southeastern Massachusetts and Newport, Rhode Island.
